

1_ Although one likes to believe that your own children are beautiful, intelligent, and well behaved, what one believes is not always the case. No error

2_ As you become familiar with both early and contemporary Native American literature, one may notice that traditional stories have influenced recent ones. No error

3_ To become a world figure-skating champion like Kristi Yamaguchi, one must be so dedicated that you will practice six hours a day. No error